Dear Linda,

This has been a really great year. And you helped to make it that way. No matter what happened you wouldn't criticize or ridicule. But you were always there with a smile and a good word. I hope that our friendship will always continue to grow as it has this year. Remember some of the stupid things we three did together? Like hiking up to Memorial Grove during school time. And all the rifle matches. What about the Cadet Xop? That was a real Rookie Deal. Every rookie was afraid to do or say anything for fear of Sgt. Figgie or Neilson. Remember the basketball & football games where you sat and punched, screamed & dragged me every time Jim made a miss or hit. Good luck and don't forget that I will always be your friend. 5-8-59

Make West High typically American.

"Within these walls which surround us". . . This revered phrase amply represents the windowed structures, old and new, which cast their red-bricked shadows upon our travel-shaken corner signs. The minute daily events that make up the terms, semesters, and years of golden achievements are written in the tattered turf of the football field, the bulging lockers, and the sacred seal . . . "Our voices raise to West, our Alma Mater."

Plotting the Future of Youth

Leaders combine all ages, all generations —
Seasoned timber, struggling novice — whose inherent Purpose it is to perform a significant service
That contributions cannot sink into oblivion.

Knowing, too, early morning study and late meetings,
They sympathize, though indirectly, with our plight.
These who would never miss a basketball tilt
Are wonderful, happy people — typically American.

Dignified, respectable, commanding,
Jacks-of-all subjects, masters of one,
Board members, staff, teachers, student leaders
Expand our horizons, brighten our futures.

America leads.

Inaugurating the Plan

With an air of prominence, figures gather around a long, shiny topped table. Papers rustle, and friendly nods are exchanged as the meeting comes to order. Confronted with challenging issues, the superintendents and board must establish the standard by which the design is based. Concerned with cultural as well as intellectual growth, they must face the conflict between a varying public and faculties over many school curriculums. Opulent, recognized men convey a vital interest, diligence, and devotion.

Implementing the Action

With a heartening smile, a nod by a care-turned head, a familiar figure in a dark suit strides down the hall with a dignified gait. Perhaps he's off to a business meeting. Could be an assembly. "Should I tear down that Booster Club poster?" one might hear him say as he scrutinizes the latest artistic attempts.

At any rate, we know our principals, Mr. Baker, Mr. Galbraith, and Mr. Larsen, are invariably on the job. Unfailing loyalty and determined devotion are as much a part of these men as their very names. These unassuming qualities have won the respect of each of us.

Building the Stature of Youth

A tall, stylish silhouette amid a laughing group of girls, a tweed suited figure projecting an appealing boyish charm, spontaneous smiles, and a willingness to serve represent familiar symbols. Caught up in a whirl of campus activity, the infectious spirit of pep assemblies and breathless excitement of dances, our able counselors and social workers are thought of as a part of these significant moments. Showing a sharp concern about the present and a keen interest in the future, they are remembered, not only as friends and companions, but as "Builders of Stature."

the Desire for Achievement

In outlining principle points for the study of Presidents and for added emphasis, he suddenly thrusts out his clenched fist and reveals for a moment his once cleverly concealed suspenders. He then plops on his chair and with triumphant vigor snaps up his legs and lays them contentedly across his desk.

Though wages, students and humor contribute to hearty laughter and loudly voiced opinions in the hall after the bell has sounded and there is an incessant creation of difficult testing methods, this group of men and women make of us conscious, young, American adults. Documenting Records Atmosphere, good food, warm companionship characterize the faculty steak fry at Tracy Wigwam.

Typing the daily bulletins and the absentees and keeping up our numerous record cards have been only a few of our office workers' daily duties. In their spare minutes they have installed themselves as mothers to the school, acting as sponges for spilled emotions and balm for wounded feelings. Mending tears and repairing slivered fingers also fall under their assumed duties.

Anything from a spool of navy blue thread to a five-year-old English book are items any harassed student may acquire, via Mrs. Izatt, from the nooks of our well-stocked book store.

A spontaneous roar of applause pierces the air as a tall, collegiate figure appears on stage. Standing unafraid for his beliefs, our amicable ambassador has combined the strength of leadership and humility in fellowship to achieve paramount goals.

Governing Student Life

A warm-hearted smile, a tactful word, a zealous school spirit, a glowing example — these qualities personify our student body officers. Great are the obligations of those who handle the problems of school government, who assume responsibilities between pupils and faculty through their firm backing of students, teachers, and principals.

The Hello Day and Christmas assemblies, the Election Dance, and the orientation of our many bewildered sophomores are only a few of the myriads of officer-sponsored activities.

Tom Patterson
Vice President

Talented, conscientious, this quietly dignified instigator of school activity has added zeal to West's spirit and has gained respect with his warm glow of friendship.

Marie Haslam
Corresponding Secretary

Alive with new ideas and the willingness to accept challenges, Marie has captivated all with her charm, creativity, enthusiasm, and exceptional leadership ability.

Sheila Hardy
Recording Secretary

Sharing a smile with everyone and bursting with pep, Sheila has rolled up her sleeves to give that extra push and has been instrumental in making 1959 a successful year.

Karen Newman
Historian

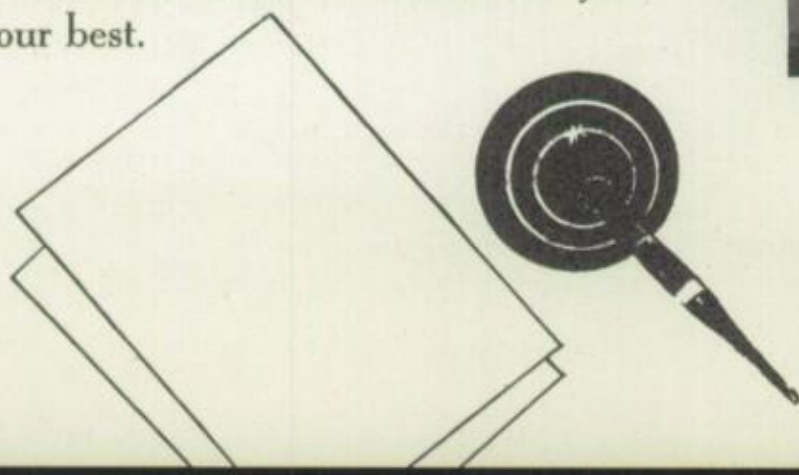

Always thinking of the unusual, the exciting, the colorful, Karen emulates good will with her enthusiasm, happiness, and vivacity.

Expediting Progress

Fifth period, and a maise of figures fills Mr. Galbraith's office. The nineteen members of the Executive Board come to order. Taking their places on committees, handling our finances, and sponsoring a student workshop, they have led student government. Dances and assemblies, including Hello Day, Christmas, and Graduation have been among their high quality contributions this year. Interschool relations have been strengthened through meetings with officers from other high schools. The pulsing hub of campus activity, willing, loyal, and capable, our leaders have united to make this year one of our best.

Marie Haslam and Tom Patterson perform in the E Board sponsored Christmas assembly.

Exec council plans new activities in "Buzz session."

JUNIOR COUNCIL: Madeline Wilcox, Virginia Jckowski, Marcia Campbell, Judy White, Naomi Adachi, Joy Dean.

When it's Wednesday morning and 8:00 a.m., the Social Room fills as vibrant figures take their places. Faces lighten with the excitement of plans which create sounds of elated jollity drifting from the gym as fathers and daughters gather for "Hick's Hoe-down." An aura of excitement arouses a keen awareness of W.A.G.'s girls' choice, "Mardi Gras." Heading West's Associated Girls, Kim Adachi has personified graciousness true to her position. Amenity, ambition, and acuity have keynoted this year's alive officers and council.

SENIOR COUNCIL: Marie Haslam, Karen Newman, Betty Huefner, Alice Sekino, Mary Linda Klumker, Myrna Jeppson, Sheila Hardy, Ingerliss Pedersen, Elaine Van Buskirk, Mary Jean Barnard.

Gary Ryneerson, W.H.A.M. president, and Mr. Delbert Fowler, W.H.A.M. sponsor.

The infrequent pleasure of shaving a "handsome" man comes only at the conclusion of the beard growing contest.

If you can hear the deep rumble of male voices behind the closed door in the basement of the main building, it is a certainty that the men of West are combining their skill for another school function. Under their direction the success of "Indian Summer" proved that the hands which make the basketball scores and earn football trophies are capable of creating masterful decorations. This all-man organization includes the membership of every male student and is led by Gary Ryneerson. The cheerful, good-humored officers have rolled up their sleeves, excelled in school leadership, and have led the student body to better sportsmanship.

W.H.A.M. COUNCIL: Vernon Heap, Eddie Neilson, Brent Ek, Larry Geisler, Tom Hart, Robert Larsen, Bill Wright, Gary Ryneerson, Mr. Delbert Fowler, sponsor.

Uniting Men's Plans

Committee members plan for "Autumn in Modern," the W.H.A.M.-sponsored fall season dance.

Representing Student Voices

Having arrived last in a line of seventy-five student council representatives to pick up Charity Drive tickets, football and basketball admissions, and P.T.A. movie permits, the official delegate from room 310 vowed that he would never again be caught unaware. He would listen to every clue during all the weekly meetings. He would be there in seat 3-8, copiously recording all vital data on the period to be omitted for the B.Y.U. assembly, tickets for the Pep Club dance, the necessity of students' not taking Dixie cups to the noon movies. He would be first in line. Mr. Galbraith was making an announcement, "Friday, first period, tickets for the school play." Friday arrived. Where was the official delegate from 310? He was there, and was first in line.

Student Council Representative, Larry Spendlove, collects for basketball tickets.

Returning to School

"Could you please tell me what U-206 means on my 7-B?" queried a meek sophomore as he found himself surrounded by some seventy-five members of the modern dance class. It was obvious that he had not attended the orientation assembly on August 29. School began, and cheerful cards betrayed the identity of class members on Hello Day. The wheels of tricycles, bicycles, and mighty sports cars became the symbols that created a spirit of warmth and spread to destroy the barriers between senior and sophomore. The Stocking Dance, with its mad creations and gloating award winners, highlighted the day's activities. School elections echoed a high tone increasing the busy atmosphere as a roar of approval greeted the victors at a suspense-filled dance.

Buck Backman, candidate for Junior Class president, presents campaign speech.

All manner of wild footwear abounds at the stocking dance as guest disc jockey, Ron McCoy, scrutinizes the entries and selects a winner.

"E Board takes pleasure in characterizing qualities of entering sophomores at orientation assembly.

The Election Dance is climaxed by the announcement of class officers.

Welcoming Alums

"West High School has certainly changed since I graduated," remarked alums from some fifty graduating classes. A tingle of excitement caught students and faculty members alike on October seventeenth when former Panthers, seeking their old refuge of learning, returned for a day to recall carefree moments of the past. Pleasant, sometimes shy chuckles brought recollections of classmates in waste paper baskets, teachers sitting on tacks, and sophomores finishing a "440" around the track. Bright tags and young babies characterized the many guests, and their talents in an especially fine assembly received thunderous applause. A climax to a brief stay was a thrilling football victory over Granite.

Going to the Fair

Enthusiastic students poured out of West exits. Racing motors and honking horns marked the eagerness for first chance at the annual State Fair. Unlimited hamburgers, peanuts, cotton candy, and carameled apples created an atmosphere of festivity and pleasure. Sturdy stock champions, twenty-five cent milk bottle pitches, and tilt-a-whirl fun captured masculine taste while blue ribbon ceramics, fashion show, and television stars won the praises of the feminine. An imperturbable moment at the end of the day saw the fairgrounds whisper a sigh of relief to await the day and rush of tomorrow.

Pumpkins, cornstalks, and scarecrows are the corner decorations for the W.H.A.M. sponsored "Indian Summer."

Macbeth, his demented wife, and the cackling voiced witches drink a toast to the completion of a foul deed at the Halloween assembly which parodies Macbeth and brings to light student reactions to the great Shakespearian tragedy.

Hailing Halloween

"Double, double toil and trouble; Fire burn, and caldron bubble," cackled the witches from Macbeth as they were reincarnated on stage of West High School. A humorous parody on the famous Shakespearian classic prepared by the Assembly Committee under the direction of Mrs. Hansen captured many tense moments and combined them with modern dancing and appropriate music. The unique presentation was tied propitiously with the Halloween season and W.H.A.M. sponsored "Indian Summer." Crisp fall air; fused reds, yellows, browns, and oranges; smells, sights and tastes of harvest time — cornucopias, pumpkins, cornstalks, cider — were all united to make a well-organized panacea for term-end blues.

Discovering Bali Hai

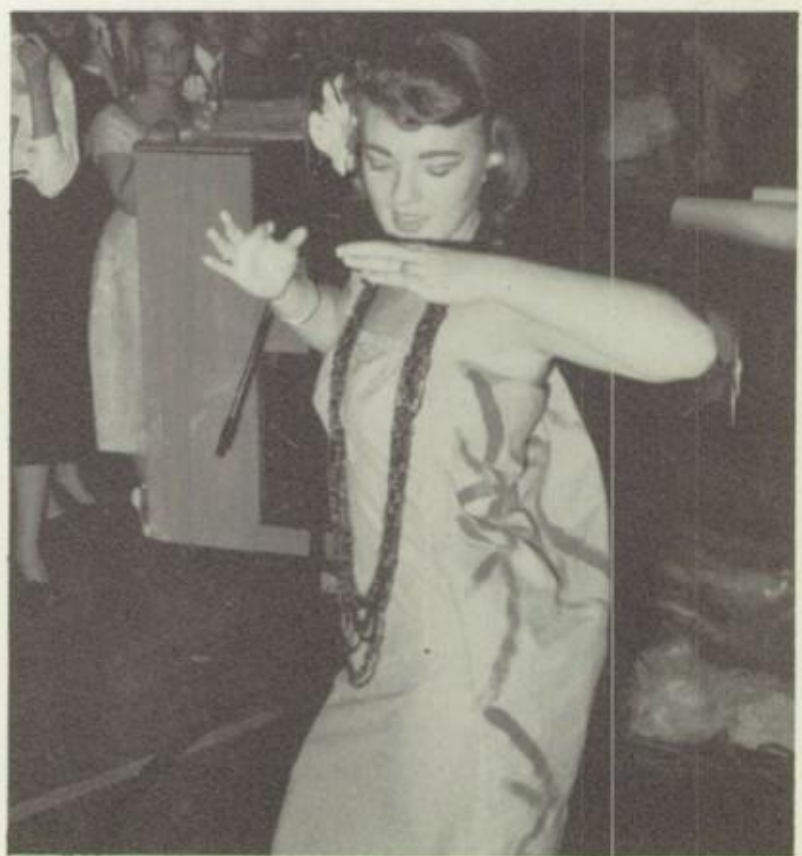

A smiling woman in blue was heard to say, "Step through gate three, please. All ready for the take-off!" as 418 willing couples were whisked from reality into the dream world of "Bali Hai." The mystic enchantment of this island paradise of dark ferned lagoons and shaded streams transcended through an aura of blues and greens. Dell Bush's orchestra created the mood for the floor show, featuring graceful hula dancers and island songs. Sixty-nine well organized Pep Club girls worked for weeks before November seventh to fashion an exotic replica of the South Sea paradise. Tiny pink boutonnieres given to all by the diminutive Pep Club mascot highlighted a festive occasion.

Viewing Berkeley Square

"I'll ask for a stone with the letters cut deep so that it won't wear away before you come to me." Words softly spoken and dynamically impressed were the connotative messengers that captivated the audience at West High auditorium November twentieth when "Berkeley Square" was presented. Peter Standish, modern young American, was transformed into the Queen Anne period in England, 1784. There he found prejudices and traditions of the time which, as depicted by wigged counts and sedate countesses, forced him to prove the virtues of a later date in history. Cast members responding to moods of joy and sorrow, moments of romance, periods of light-hearted humor, and scenes of tragic separation projected their characterizations into a performance of high quality and good taste.

● Acquainting Parents with Teachers

"Now I know why Susan has lost ten pounds," a mother sighed as she rested wearily on a bannister of the Union Building, third floor. Fatigued, she was glad enough to let energized Junior take back his six classes after Parents Night. More than 900 parents, the finest representation in many years, met first in a general assembly and then visited each class for ten minutes. Understanding and mutual agreement on renewed emphasis in education brought challenges from teachers and timely comments and questions from vitally concerned parents. Several older generation participants were shocked to receive quizzes and to have considerable difficulty in passing them. All listened and the consensus was that educators were surely pushing back the frontier of knowledge.

Greeting Christmas

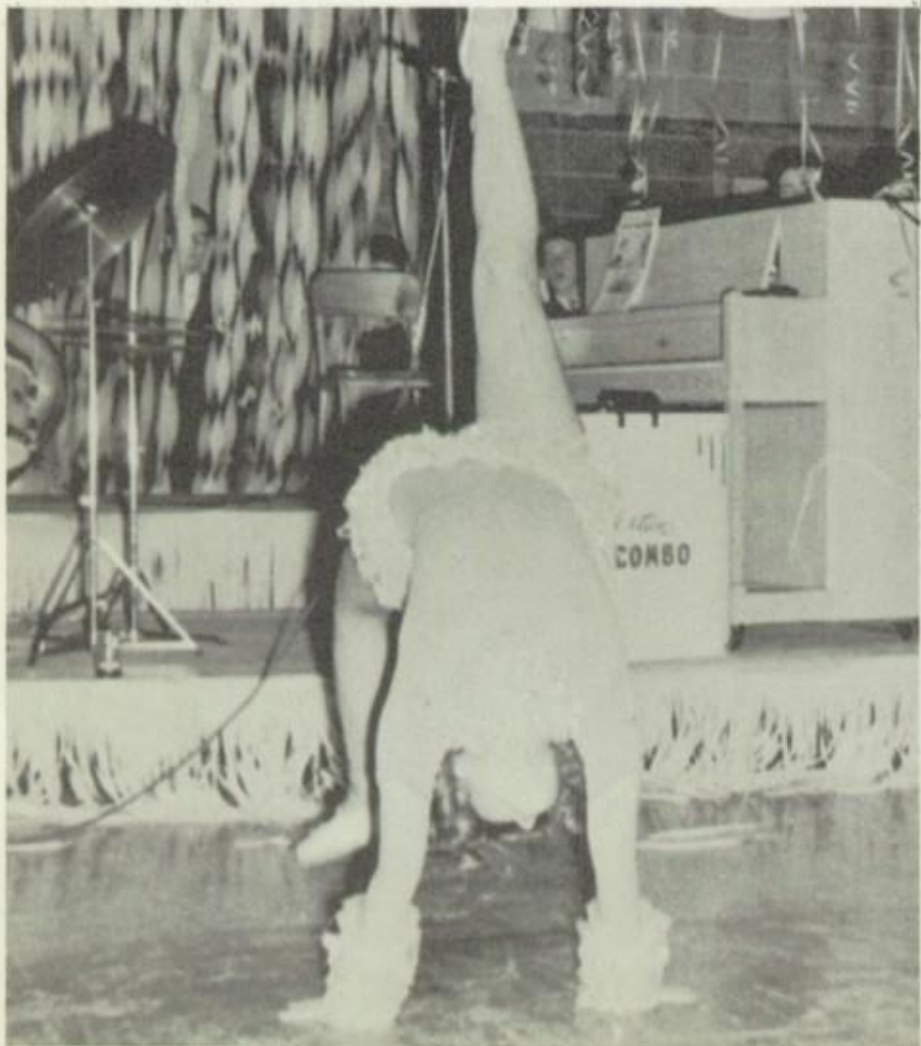

Pain was softened and children's hearts gladdened in lonely hospital wards. West's service organizations did not forget the spirit of giving. Foyer decorations emulated a joyous Christmas greeting to all passers-by and the busy students scurried from one party to another. Such times of anxious anticipation! W.A.G. and W.H.A.M. distributed Yuletide favors to advisories, and the climax of Christmas gaiety came as the Panther's favorite couple, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, was entertained at the North Pole. "Boots and Holly," sponsored by the Junior Class, prepared everyone for the holiday vacation.

Linda Massey presents a modern dance depicting gaiety of the holiday season.

Celebrating Mardi Gras

A coalescence of electric blues, shocking pinks, and emerald greens captured gaiety. An aura of excitement prevailed on January seventeenth as W.A.G. council members transformed the gym into the creole city of the "Mardi Gras." Elated couples glided to music of the Larry Jackstein orchestra under a canopy of glittering balloons and streamers. The air of mystery was created by favors of glitter dipped masks. A sultry, French cabaret served frosted snowballs to the merrymakers. W.A.G.'s semi-annual girls' choice dance, successful "Mardi Gras," made indelible an exciting event.

Tiny Robin Shepherd distributes striking mask favors.

Balloons, confetti, masked figures everywhere.

Associating with Cadets

Red, white, and blue streamers accented the silhouette of a patriotic symbol as the rhythmic melodies of Mickey Brien's orchestra combined fox-trot, bop, and jazz. Officer brass was shined, and lowly privates presented such an immaculate picture that the forty-first annual "Cadet Hop" acquired an aura of grandeur. An all-time favorite entertainment was the precision stepping of pepsters clothed in their striking red and black uniforms. February seventh was the big day for the West High R.O.T.C.

Spiriting Loyalty

Doug Condie and Holly Smith reproduce an old fashioned melodrama with superfluous vocabulary and all.

"Coach! Team! Pep! Steam! Fifteen rah's for the West High Team!" The gym resounds with a mighty thunder clap of "Panther" spirit as more than two thousand stentorian voices unify. Before each home game, during football and basketball seasons, the pandemonium re-echoed. Triggering this alarum of pep, eight enlivened cheerleaders, in smart formation, lead the student body in yells. The welcoming of officers from other schools, clever skits, teaching the sophomores new yells, and competition between classes were insured. Supported by the Pep Club, band, and student body, these animated assemblies fired the spirit that helped push our teams on to victory.

Screaming with the Seniors

"And you will come into much wealth and will travel around the world." A mysterious and prophetic fortuneteller revealed the future written on lines of the palms. Fascinating discoveries were in store for seniors as they attended the "Scream." Bill Ence, behind the figure of a long and lanky cowboy, personified the "wish I were" idea. Cheerleaders, dressed as clowns, introduced such games of skill as pass the life saver. Class officers from East, South, and Highland were invited guests and brought special talent numbers from each of their schools. Hot dogs covered with mustard, and drinks sipped through straws projected the carnival mood. Class officers manned the concessions and directed an evening of fun.

"I'll give you until noon to get out of town," commanded Sheriff Gordon Blackham as he triggered his trusty six-gun and glared at a belligerent outlaw, Buck Backman. Thus commenced Junior Class festivities on December fifth. "Boots and Holly" featured a rather unusual combination, western dress and Christmas spirit. The feature attraction of the evening was a saloon, complete with cards, poker chips, tinkling piano, appropriate cartoons, and enthusiastic participants. Guest disc jockey, John Worthen, spun records and awarded platters to the most agile proponents of the "Hokey-Pokey," the bop, and the jitter-bug. An enlivened program presented talented juniors and tiny Jerry Blackham. Bear claws and hot chocolate appeased hungry mouths, and the mid-classmen departed, friendly and well satisfied.

Stomping with the Sophomores

Tyros, eager to become better acquainted and led by enthusiastic officers, joined December twelfth to participate in the "Clod Hop." As the theme would suggest, gay Sophs garbed themselves in cowboy boots, levis, plaid shirts, and started early to celebrate the Yuletide season. Santa Claus, having lost some 157 pounds and his long, white beard, stepped from a gift box to inaugurate the evening's festivities. Games and relays sparked the competitive natures of awkwardly clad athletes, and results pictured many a bruised knee or cracked elbow. Surprise guests included class officers from other city schools. A western-type program featured Pete Ortiz and his electric guitar. Brownies and punch satisfied the ravenous participants, and dancing completed an evening of merrymaking.

"Come ye from the hills and ye from the mills. Don't ye care? Where's a fair, down on Mac Connachy Square!" The auditorium changed into the glens and moors of Scotland as the mythical city of "Brigadoon," reborn for one day every one hundred years, came to West High on March eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth. "Brigadoon's" clans came forth in splendor, and audiences were enthralled with the superb voices of the leads. Combining numberless hours of practice, the orchestra, principals, and chorus achieved one of the finest productions in West's history.

Entertaining Mother

"Hurry Dad! Watch it. Don't drop the ball," stamped a young feminine enthusiast in the hustle of relay competition.

"Just like her mother," chuckled the speeding terror as he approached the finish line. Proud daughters escorted their favorite racing partners to the West High gym for "Hick's Hoedown." Dad proved, too, that his polka step could add new tone to square dancing whirl, but his youthful appearance met some rivalry when mother, gayly attired, attended "Through the Looking Glass." On March nineteenth, anticipating the parade of festive fashions, the ladies of the household joined ranks for a delightful evening in the school auditorium. Throughout the year, gay feminine spirit earned rewards for enthusiastic supporters.

Going Western

"Hey all you Westerners! Come one, come all. Swing your partner. Greet the corner gal, and do-si-do," was the familiar call. April innovated a casual air as cowpokes and their gals in gingham arrived at the Third Annual Western Roundup. Ye ol' Saloon featured a mock bar with its bearded barkeeper serving soft drinks straight or on the rocks. Bets of "I'll raise you twenty," and "Call it!" were heard from the well supported poker game housed by the saloon. Marryin' Sam did a boomin' business at the hitching post as captivated couples took the last vows. An aura of scope and color prevailed as "E Board" chalked up one of the year's most successful events.

Reveling at Lagoon

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores gave sighs of relief as an air of excitement prevailed on May fourteenth. School was out for the day, and the twenty-five miles to Lagoon were a turmoil of Western traffic. An atmosphere of anticipation filled buses and private cars as students were ready to don swim suits, head for the pool and for sun tans.

Bidding Farewell to Another Year

Innumerable autographs signed in the 1959 Panther, Awards Banquet, invitations extended to graduating Seniors, commencement speakers' messages presented to awaken a cognizance of future responsibilities, thrilling moments of receiving diplomas, Mr. Baker, a special "Senior," given honors upon his retirement — these exciting moments intensified the climax of twelve years of endeavor. Memories of high honors, no honors, operetta leads, walk-on parts, dates to "Mardi Gras," checking coats at same, cannot be forgotten. And now new challenges must be faced.

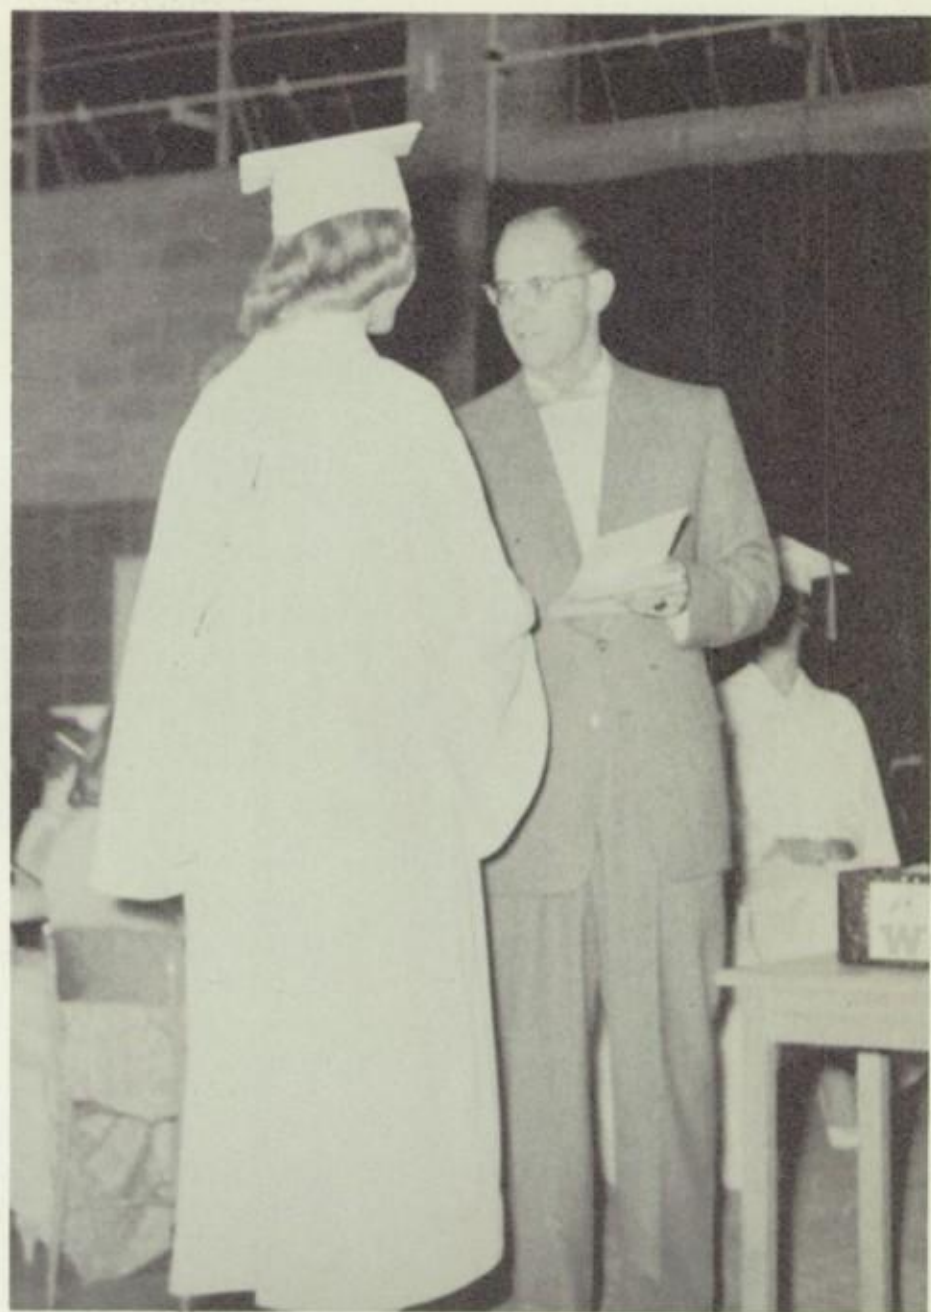

The speeches must be written, the stage set up, the decorations created, the orchestra rehearsed, the Seniors drilled, the caps and gowns issued, the tickets distributed — so much preparation.

And after all the bustle and feverish rehearsal, the graduation exercises — formal, well-organized, perfectly timed — add a lovely climax to twelve years of study.

Yearbook signing produces such concentration, a rare phenomenon.

Interpreting in Dramatics

"... and the wind moans under his steps." Spellbound audiences at East High fell captive to the "Giant's Stairs." Competing in Forensics

"Butterflies! Phooey! Vultures," exclaimed an apprehensive orator as she left the throes of friendly huddle to enter the second round in Region Three forensics competition at Highland High. Husky voices, only just returning after a bout with the flu, and wobbly knees, struggling to maintain the weight of a non-too-confident body, offered some resistance to the enthusiasts of forensic activity. The Speech Department represented one of the most active at West. Beginning the year with the Utah Broadcasters sponsored "I Speak for Democracy" competition, the students of public speaking graduated to "Our Constitution — Worth Having, Worth Defending," D.A.R. - S.A.R., and others instigated by various business and fraternal organizations. The annual Weber Speech Competition gave eager debaters a pre-season opportunity to test the argumentative abilities of opponents whom West students would meet later in region competition. Extemporaneous speaking and legislative forum enthusiasts expounded freely on current issues and principles of government. Instructors shouldered new responsibility. West gained confident representatives in state competition. Speech accomplishment reached a new peak.

Performing in Music

Setting the pace at a whirl of activity, the music department interests this year were wide and varied. During the second year for choral director, Mr. Maher, A Cappella saw the innovations of uniforms and out-of-town trips. Fall activities included the sweep and color of B.Y.U. Homecoming as the West High Marching Band struck up a spirited march. The lilting soprano voice of Sheila Sorenson captured first place honors in Utah State Fair competition. Combining choirs, orchestra, and band, a traditional Thanksgiving assembly was presented. Televiewers were captivated by the blended harmonies of 152 like-sweatered A Cappella members on their own half-hour Christmas television program. In the spring, selected orchestra members and A Cappella Choir took part in the Music Educators Convention. Cresting this year's many music achievements, "Brigadoon" brought wide acclaim.

A special Christmas Eve television program featured the West High A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Mr. James Maher. Careful preparation gave the program a professional touch and brought community-wide recognition to the often performing group.

Looking to a Career in Business

A figure staggered from 'U-304 — dictation 140 today. Mysterious brief forms, trick comptometers, out-of-order file cabinets, strange new dictaphones, and deceptive electric typewriters added a challenging note to hundreds of business students. Careers as stenographers in plush life insurance offices stimulated stubborn fingers to type the fifty words and write the eighty shorthand characters per minute in Civil Service examinations. Fingers that sang the cadence of flawless rhythm reaped the rewards of vocational victory. Trial and practice were the keys to success, and the result was a promising business career.

Pursuing the Arts

A clutter of paint splattered easels, clay boards, pencils and brushes lie in disarray. With these "tools of the artists," aspiring young artisans with precise strokes capture the delicacy of a figurine or the majestic sweep of a landscape. Shoulders bend with the tediousness of precise lettering, and a finished splash of color reveals that there's a dance or a program coming. Scenery for "Berkeley Square" and "Brigadoon," decorations for Christmas and for the Awards Banquet, displays of oils, water colors, and ceramics for the P.T.A. sponsored spring show and for city-wide displays emphasize active participation. Exciting and creative art classes have developed a lasting appreciation for the aesthetic.

Practiced hands ready a mink for the scalpal's slice, and skilled minds compute the mechanical equivalent of heat. Scholarly lectures from U. of U. professors, an enlightening lyceum from General Motors scientists, field trips to Kenecott Copper and to well-equipped hospitals, and an actively supported Science Fair have motivated new interest in achievement. Another falls beneath the sharp prick of a needle. The pleasant aroma of just-baked cookies fills the air across the hall, and there is swift concealment of burned toast. Such creative activities as preparing luncheons for visiting dignitaries, arranging novel table decorations, displaying original creations in a spring fashion show, and practicing the art of entertaining make the homemaking classes fascinating and practical. Today's experiences assist teenage girls in learning to be the patient, constructive homemakers of tomorrow.

Achieving in Social Studies

"Yesterday, December 7, 1941 — a day which will live in infamy — the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by the naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan!" A recording of the deep, reverberant tones of President Roosevelt in his War Message to Congress recalls the memory of retold experiences from those who fought as moments of tenseness seem to be relived. Social studies record eras of accomplishment. The excitement of observing lobbying at the Utah Legislature, "Good Citizenship" competition, anticipation for the announcement of foreign exchange student finalists, and the procurement of perception through a Model U. Spikes dug hard into the turf, and flying elbows struck in dull resonance as an authoritative voice shouted, "Keep your heads up, men. My mother could block better than that." September first saw the beginning of workouts on a newly refurbished field. However, it was not long before the green had disappeared and unblemished skins were bruised and marred. After three-hour scrimmages nightly and on Saturdays, the strong survived the "cutting." Competition began in earnest. Plays were called and counts given. First downs, touchdown passes, breathless sighs of "West recovers" — thrilling moments of victory. Knocked out teeth, complaints of "Honestly, it slipped through my fingers," too frequent fumbles — frustrating moments of defeat. Football makes men.

"Yea Fight!" the wildly excited crowd shouted as it brought the team from the sidelines. Two centers moved into position for the toss-up. The ball was in the air. Muscles strained to gain possession. The crowd tensed. Anxious eyes observed each passing second. Whistles blew. Time-out were signaled. Fouls were called. And so another season began. Weeks of three hour per night practices resulted in the hook shots' and two-handed thrusts' becoming second nature. Well matched teams in Region Three stimulated high quality performance, and scores of games were won or lost by one point at the last minute. The 1959 Panther basketball team could be characterized as a coordinated whole, each player possessing specific abilities but aware of the importance of team-work. Victors in seven out of ten season tilts forced many a competition to bow to the strength of a mighty Panther squad.

The tingling excitement felt by the crowd rose to a roar. Then a tense quiet prevailed as the Box Elder Bees, knowing that one second remained, had the opportunity to break the tie and win round one of "State" competition. The first shot was missed, but the second found its mark and the score was 50-49. The Panthers were defeated. The second game with Jordan High School was equally hard fought. Hopes were high but faded in the waning minutes of the competition. Two attempts — two defeats.

One last second — West's hopes were high.

Matching Might in Wrestling

A helpless grappler struggles, calls forth every ounce of strength, fights a last-ditch battle only to fall to the mat at the hands of a merciless Panther opponent. Indomitable champions of the mat have proven the effectiveness of the body swing and the Full Nelson, have facinated enthusiastic audiences during pre-season and season tussles, have maintained the daily practice schedules to build alertness, coordination, and muscle tone. Coach Hunt was fortunate this year in having capable men to represent all weight classes. Afternoon matches with South, East, Highland, Olympus, Granite, and Bountiful gave the Panthers a six loss, five win record. Four wrestlers qualified for state competition and maintained a good record for West.

Two ticklish grapplers, Judd Jackson and Jim Sterzer, struggle for superiority on the mat.

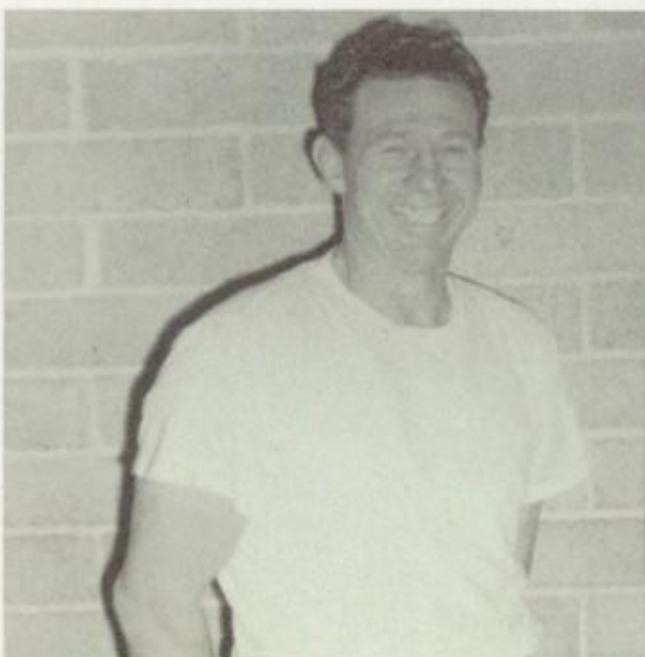

Shinichi Nakamura takes a fall to the mat.

Frank Holtry and Bill Ence, two extremes in weight differences, struggle mercilessly.

Gaining Ground in Track

Goals have been over Goal. Sincerely, Palmer

A muscled figure combined strength and skill as a discus was hurled through the air. At the sound of the gun sleek figures streaked past as cheers of "Keep up that stride!" or "Come on! There's only one more lap to go!" were heard. A javelin found its mark, and a pole vault was perfected. Beginning training early in March, the rugged thin clads met at 7:30 a.m. to pace one, two, even three miles in any direction, up or down any hill, over or through any obstacle. Afternoon practice any day found young athletes scrutinizing movements and timing of fellow tracksters. All events were well-represented at the B.Y.U. Invitational track meet held in April. Inter-school and regional competition saw the more gifted emerge victorious and qualify for "State." An outstanding contest combining the skilled in track and field events was held at the University of Utah, and many record breaking performances were noted.

TRACK MANAGERS: Mick Smith, Bill Moss, Paul Maxwell, Coaches Albert Hunt and Clark Brimhall.

STATE CHAMPIONS: Gordon Blackham, Joe Varoz, Monico Trujillo, John Morzelewski, Arthur Larsen, Detlef Lehnardt, Steve Clark, Larry Gardner, Newell Evans, Don Peay, Claron Swenson, Eddie Colbert, Jim Steenblik, John Gaines.

HURDLERS: Jon Brown, Robert Larsen, Ken Kalvesmaki, Carl Hankins, Arthur Larsen, Claron Swenson, Jim Steenblik, Lee Vincent.

MILERS: Lee Vincent, Clark England, Byron Cannon, Anderson, Paul Case, Tom Hansen, Detlef Lehnardt.

BROAD JUMPERS: Noel Olsen, John Morzelewski, Tony Maez, Ted Bell, Calvin Petersen, Terry Kraus, Don Peay, Garry Kershaw, Frank Knowles, Jon Brown.

DISCUS and JAVELIN: Steve Clark, Larry Gardner, Claron Swenson, Melvin Dority, Gordon Blackham, Newell Evans, Larry Nelson, Wilf Daniels.

CROSS COUNTRY: Jim Norton, Byron Cannon Anderson, Joe Varoz, Eddie Colbert, Tom Hansen, Detlef Lehnardt, Jack Gilbert.

440 - 880: Jim Norton, Eddie Colbert, John Morzelewski, Marty Brinton, Larry Nelson, Jon Brown, Joe Varoz, Monico Trujillo, Kim McClellan, Lee Hancock.

Forging Ahead in Baseball

"Three balls — two strikes," resounded in the ballpark. Suddenly the air exploded with the peal of the bat. Another home run was assured. Immediately after the conclusion of the basketball season, spike shoes and baseball caps were donned. Jordan Park became the busy host, accommodating a daily practice routine for the Panther sluggers. A cooperative team effort and a coach with seemingly tireless spirit created a new pulse of excitement for the spring season. Loaded with speed, a good pitching staff, and several batters with a "300" average, the West High Baseball Team lured large audiences to Region Three competition and maintained its high standing. Several well executed double play combinations produced a chorus of applause and assured the Panthers a successful season.

Coach Tuckett explains techniques to West's sluggers.

Daily practices assure the Panthers a successful season.

Mike Kenyon and Dale Wanlass pose a terrific threat in doubles competition.

A mighty bank-hand swing is displayed by Craig Baker.

Driving on in Tennis

"Whap!" a tennis ball streaked through the air and was returned with a mean overhand smash. "Deuce" was called, and the moments became tense. The ball was served. There was a backhand drive, "advantage in," and then "game." A tennis team member had come through to win another match. Practicing daily during summer and fall, West High Tennis Team members perfected their skill to take part in spring competition. An individual sport, tennis became a common pastime with both fellows and girls at West High.

Developing Aquatic Skill

Splash! A lithe figure streaks through crystal water. A silhouette springs with unparalleled form to complete a perfect swan dive. Friendly shouts and laughter take over Wasatch Springs. West's well-qualified swimmers, coached by Mr. Clark Brimhall, combine teamwork and many tireless hours of daily practice to produce the skill necessary to be tops in keen competition.

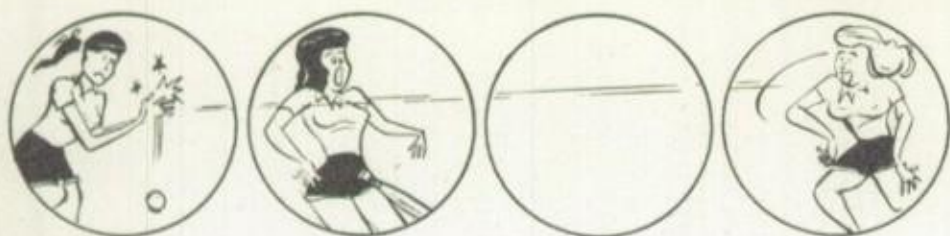

A stroke, a split-second race turn, and off on another lap!

The plunge — 200 yards of grueling struggle — ultimate victory for West.

Participating in Intramurals

"Hit it! Hit it!" echoed loudly in the girls gym and bounced back to eager players during volleyball tournaments. Miss Colleen Jessen, sponsor of Leaders Club and Girls' Intramural Sports, joined in with gay spirit and became one of the sport-loving participants who dived into golf, archery, softball, tennis, and basketball. The enjoyment of sharing fun with equally enthusiastic teams made up for losses suffered by vigorous girl athletes. Leaping, scrambling, hoping — sportsmanship ruled every game.

LEADERS CLUB — Row One: Judy McClain, Marilyn Ryan, Carolyn Larsen, Julie Freeman. Row Two: Lucille Harris, Marcia Kellogg, Donna Penninger, Kay Evans. Row Three: Annette Hahn, Linda Aaron, Sharon Crockett, Karen Newman. Row Four: Gwen Faulkner, Linda Thayne, Connie Waite, Sherry Van Vleet. Row Five: Carol Brough, Dena Peters.

Meetings, complaints, drills, and headaches are only a few of the etcetera duties of a Pep Club officer. Through the assistance of Mrs. Cooley to push matters through complicated office channels, they have kept the club on smooth roads.

A tiny girl with big ideas is Christine Maw, five-year-old mascot, who proved to be the center of attraction in many drills with her winning smile and persistent determination.

Full of vim, vigor, and fight, except during early morning drills, is the typical Pep Clubber. To be the loudest in the cheering section and the most precise marcher on the floor are her ideals.

To provide a needy family with a full turkey dinner for Christmas was a project in collaboration with Key Club. Then, just for the joy of it, they caroled around the city and exchanged gifts. Planning their dances, assembly, exchanges, and club parties were more of their successful endeavors.

Spiriting Animation

Off with a bang in their stylish array, our sprightly cheerleaders began to steam up the pep to push through their enthusiastic sportsmanship campaign. Their burning school spirit ignited weaker embers, heightening the flame of loyalty. The zealous rally for unity in yells likewise produced audible results.

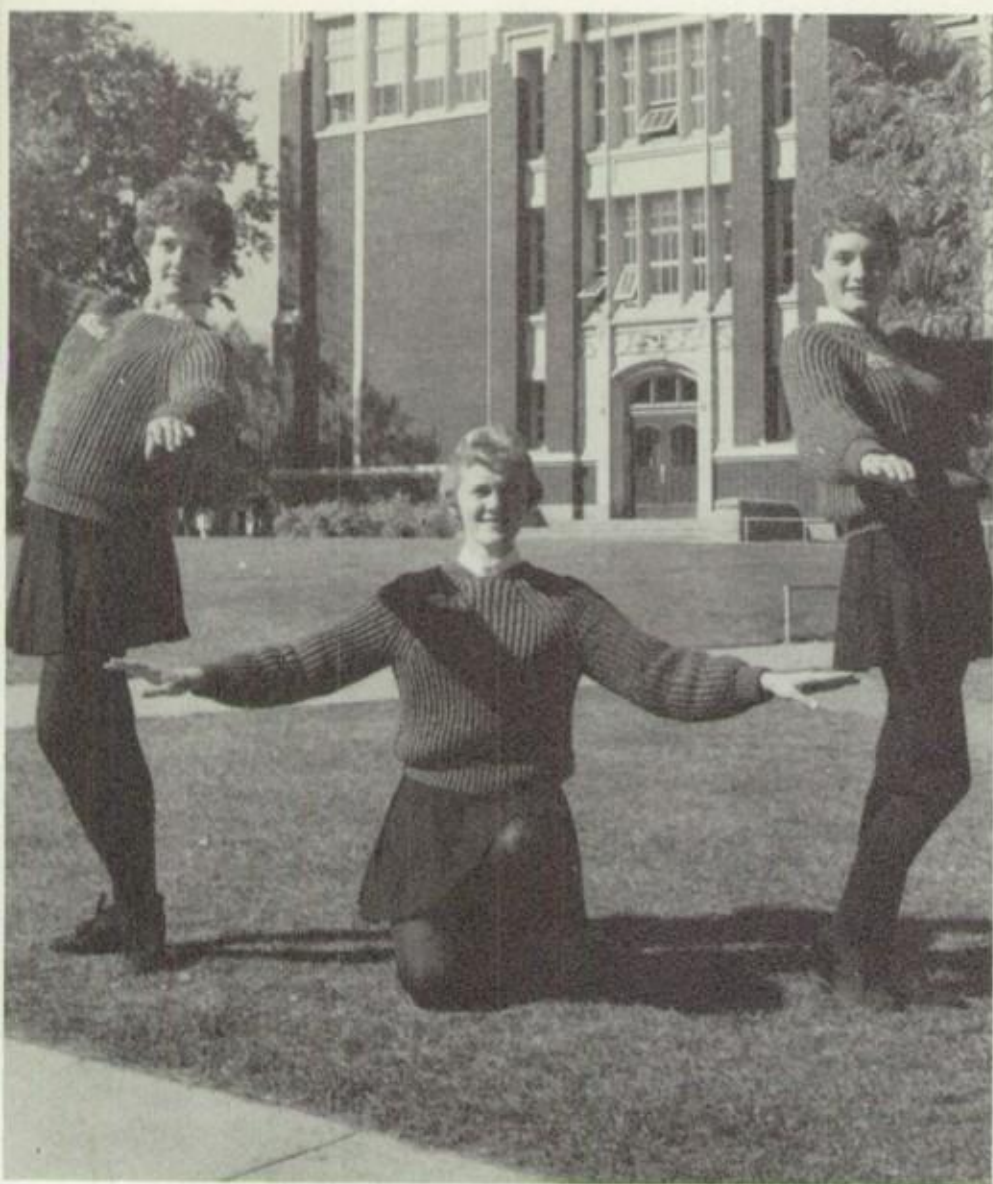

Iconoclast in nature, each personality presented a new, sophisticated atmosphere to the art of cheerleading.

Left! Right! The Army of the United States sponsors the West High R.O.T.C. Competitive rifle matches, marching drills, and federal inspection kept the year humming with busy schedules and military procedures. Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! Rhythmic steps of the Drill Team greeted early arrivers to the West High campus. Sharp turns, stern commands, and diligent practices marked our squads as stubborn competitors with East and South teams. The Glendale Junior High audience responded energetically to the patriotic assembly presented by this marching corp of boys. A sophisticated military ball, honors paid to deceased members of the military, participation in the Armed Forces Day Parade, ushering and first aid services at community gatherings received willing support from devoted cadets. Sabres from other schools flashed a challenge, and a highly skilled team responded. West students will not soon forget this year's jovial, joke-telling, flag-raising rookies.

Imprinting Memories

Think ! Work ! Don't bother me now ! These have been the mottos of the Panther staff as they arduously delved into the creation of another paramount production. Employing the various abilities of each staff member to compile and design, each page is a masterpiece of combined talents. Debates that seldom followed the rules of the written code were a favorite activity when section deadline time arrived.

As the semesters draw to a welcomed close, the Panther is eagerly referred to, to revive fading memories.

Publishing the Paper

Flash! A figure streaks past. Soon avid hands reach, and searching eyes scan the headlines for news. The Red and Black staff has added another fine edition to its excellent chronicle of school life in color and sharp focus. Its newsmongers delve into each assignment with enthusiasm and drive. All students recognize room 111, sixth period, as a hub of activity. When the gay laughter has changed to serious, confined study; when there is an unbroken rhythm of a typewriter; then we know — a deadline is due.

Striking posters and clever quips spark wide interest. The contest deadline approaches! Tuesday night, 3:30, and room 211 resounds in a verbose debate over literary merit. Striving to achieve the ultimate in quality, the West Winds staff, headed by Miss Helen Thomas, has combined numerless hours of proof-reading and editing to produce a unique literary magazine.

Achieving the Ultimate

Strains of "Welcome, welcome, Mr. Maher" resound as a sleepy throng greets its leader and daybreak at the train. Television cameras focus on striking spectacles. Voices ring in blended harmony during the Thanksgiving assembly. Tingling excitement captures youthful enthusiasm on the concert trip to Ogden. Breathless mirth lives in downtown caroling. West's transcendent A Cappella choir, arrayed in matching sweaters, radiates a glowing countenance as reverberant tones express the mood of its inspired director. Entertaining, enchanting, enriching, A Cappella achieves !

The audience becomes an imperturbable body as mellifluous music flows through the auditorium. The swaying head and softly tapping foot has fallen prey to the magic of the moment. West High's orchestra is presenting an enjoyable prelude before the school play. A wrist moves swiftly. The baton pierces the air high above, only to fall comfortable into the hand of a majorette. A striking figure leads his school band. Such a colorful array of clarinets, trumpets, flutes, saxaphones, and trombones! We love every beat we hear of the drum.

FLAG CARRIERS: Virginia Willis, Helen Hodson, Doris Hodson.

Giving Service

Huge sheets of butcher paper containing guffaw humor dangle in the foyer. Such confidence of victory! The Boosters have been here. A figure escorts a handsome fireman from the auditorium to U-303 during the Vocational Conference. Those lucky Big Sisters. A formation of athletic young men in white shirts orders everyone off the gym floor. The Ushers are on the ball. Squeals of joy emit from youngsters' voices as they receive the gifts donated by West's Junior Red Cross and Key Clubs. They serve.

Members distribute food to the needy at Thanksgiving.

KEY CLUB: Voices mingle in luncheon greetings, amiable nods are exchanged, and a gavel sounds as the meetings come to order. West's energetic Key Club subs for Santa, campaigns for campus clean-up, and promotes good feeling in the community. Row One: John Trinnaman, Dave Coldesina, Joe Fyans, Mickey Brien. Row Two: Eddie McDonald, Morey Nakaya, Doug Graham, Lee Erickson, Tom Patterson, Bill Ence, Dave Walker, John McDonald, Larry Geisler. Row Three: Roger Williams, Phil Boren, Stewart Player, Boyd Johnson, Lynn Miller, Joe Behunin, Fred Thompson, Mike Stephens, Gary Ryncarson. Row Four: Doug Condie, Larry Jacobson, Bill McLeon, Jim Steenblik, John Gaines, Kent Gardner, Mark Willes, Buck Backman, Robert Larsen, Gordon Blackham, Jack Ford. Row Five: Paul Loynd, Dennis Taylor, Stephen Jones, Robert Anderson.

USHERS CLUB: Virile figures in scarlet emblemed display command deference and order! The Ushers Club monitors varied activities. Row One: Vernon Heap, Tom Patterson, Harold Heald, Tom Hansen, Robert Fallentine, Darwin Dowding, Mr. Joseph Demman. Row Two: Richard Bush, Bill Ence, Boyd VanLeeuwen, Joe Campbell, Eddie Colbert, John Morzelewski, Don Bain, Ed Couton, Joe Cuglietta. Row Three: Lee Iverson, Ed McDonald, Mickey Brien, Brent Peterson, Joe Behunin, Ron Miles, Doug Graham, Dale Wanlass, Buck Backman, Russ Van Fleet. Row Four: Gary Kershaw, Terry Kraus, Art Lockman, Bill Cunningham, Larry Volk, Rulon DeYoung, David Mauerman, Lynn Fletcher, Raymond Brey. Row Five: Frank Knowles, Jerry Stevenson, Bill Wright, Bob Marcelis, Billie Lee, Manuel Guevara, Doyle Seeley, Lynn Potts, Mike Simmons, Gary Brooks. Row Six: Glen Belka, Terry Dickerson, Steve McClellan, Terry Johansen, Tom Brant, Allen Little, Rick Burbidge, Frank Holtry. Row Seven: Lynn Powell, Ken Sugden, Ty Kolb, Claron Swenson, Jack Roberts, Larry Gardner, Newell Evans.

BIG SISTERS: Sophomore girls made to feel welcome and at home, panting mothers guided and encouraged as they trek to U-304 on Parents Night, Vocational Conference speakers chaperoned by amicable hostesses, school play patrons ushered to their seats — Big Sisters contribute much. Their scarlet emblem signifies service. Row One: Myrna Jeppson, Mrs. Katherine McClure, Annette Hahn, Gwen Faulkner, Linda Aaron, Janet Yetter. Row Two: Jean Clark, Kim Adachi, Virginia Willis, Nancy Coletti, Marcia James, Carole Mae Williams, Joyce Akiyama. Row Three: Cherie Morgan, Zina Case, Marilyn Orme, Annalee Epperson, Suzanne Valentine, Cathy Larsen. Row Four: Sharon Egli, Linda Clinger, Lorraine Erekson, Ruth Eitner, Bonnie Stevenson, Karen ReNae Gardner, Margie Cummings. Row Five: Betty Prettyman, Mary Jo Knudsen, Bonnie Conklin, Janice Mumford, Virginia Slighting, Judy Smith, Myrna Zirker, Berthene Elvin. Row Six: NaDene Pope, Donna Wohlfarth, Cherie Lee, Gretel Gold, RaNae Morgan, Betty Huefner, Linda Westmoreland, Linda Jacobson.

JUNIOR RED CROSS: "We Serve," the impressive goal of the enthusiastic Jr. Red Cross, is constantly being fulfilled by its many activities. Those less able than we have known many cheerful hours as a result of the genial parties and dances, complete with decorations, given at the various rest homes and hospitals throughout the city. Specializing in stuffed toys for invalid children, they helped St. Nick complete his quota. Row One: Mrs. Irma Hansen, Shona Powell, Janene Cowles, Kathy Clark, Joyce Garfield. Row Two: Ruth Burns, Arlene Lund, Virgene Thaxton, Pearl McKenzie. Row Three: Jay Poulson, Sherry Spencer, Carol Ann Morck, Juby Benavidez.

Dr. Swift of St. Mark's hospital demonstrates procedure in testing lab to interested members of the Physiology Club.

PHYSIOLOGY CLUB: One of the many outstanding field trips taken by the Physiology Club was a visit to the U. of U. where they met Dr. Philip Price, Dean of Medicine. The club observed an exhibit on blood circulation and the function of the heart. A tour of St. Mark's Hospital and a Christmas program at the Primary Children's Hospital impressed new concepts on budding ambitions. Row One: Joy Akiyama, Jeanine Bartholomew, Jane Harrison, Beverly Reseigh, Ruth Rudd. Row Two: Joyce Fu, NaDene Pope, Kathleen Allen, Richard Catm. Row Three: Nadine Alleman, Beverly Iwasaki, Carolyn Lees, Janet Brinkerhoff, Bonnie Bannister, Adolf Sanft, Lynn Powell. Row Four: Steve McClellan, Michael Hone, Miss Bernice Thomas, Bob Colett.

BOOSTERS CLUB: Vivacious figures, carelessly clad in sweatshirts and tennis shoes, dash through the halls. Shrieks of laughter pierce the clamor of voices as paints and paper seem to spread themselves in disarray. Boosters Club meets! Contemporary posters splashed with cadaverous creatures have added that extra spark, kindling school spirit. Row One: Vernon Christopherson, Ronnie Lockyer, Joe Fyans, Tom Patterson. Row Two: Betty Jo Gray, Luana Morgan, Susan Keddington, Glade Paxton, RaNae Morgan, Marie Haslam, Susan Platt, Fayone Bingham. Row Three: Morey Nakaya, Jack Ford, Boyd Johnson, Fred Bettridge, Joe Behunin, Mark Willes.

Investigating the Academic

Scores of experiments result in fascinating discoveries and prepare youth for its role in a nuclear age. Study of duties expedient to patients and students reveal practicable methods and encourage nursing and teaching as careers. Graceful, coordinated movement combines art and technique making membership in Ballet Club a lovely, aesthetic experience. Academic clubs achieve.

Members participate in practical teaching experience.

FUTURE TEACHERS: With a hushed rumble of people and chairs, a mad scramble of late-comers, and the frenzied plea of the officers to "Please be quiet," the meetings of the Future Teachers of America comes to order. Each meeting provides renewed interest and enthusiasm for its predominantly feminine members. Some students have been offered the opportunity to apply their own teaching theories in an actual class room. Row One: Mr. Harold Bell, Judith Gardner, Karren Kranwinkle, Eileen Burnham, Jeanette Scott, Donna Wheelwright, Joanne Thomas, Linda Jorgensen, Naomi Adachi, Mr. Dee Anderson. Row Two: Merrily Sandberg, Janice Miller, Beverly Iwasaki, Sonja Swanson, Karen Kalvesmaki, Marily Peterson, Joyce Fujii. Row Three: Judy Lee Bossard, Amy June Smith, Kathleen Burbidge, Janice Rabiger, Nancy Holmes, Mitzie Okuda. Row Four: Ken Sugden, Dave Keysor, Barbara Conger, Mary Ann Hadfield, JoAnn Emmertson, Coranne Brady, Joy Marsh.

CHEMISTRY CLUB: A sizzling, bubbling liquid rises energetically to the surface of a flask as apron-bound figures watch attentively. The Chemistry Club later assimilates a message by Dr. Haycock on rocket research. These will be tomorrow's scientists. Row One: Gordon Danielson, Judy Lee Bossard, Bill Wigginton, Veronica Leitzinger, Judy Komatsu. Row Two: Jackie Back, Bruce Maw, Betty Huefner, Ty Kolb. Row Three: Laurin Rackham, Amy June Smith, Ken Sugden, Jerry Wright, Mr. Wilford Howard.

FUTURE NURSES: To survey nurses in action was the objective of trips taken to our local hospitals by Future Nurses. Burping screaming babies and dosing out medicine is hardly a job for a novice the club realized, so they busied themselves by making stuffed animals for the children's wards. Row One: Miss Nettie Bradford, Virgene Thaxton, Faye Strode, Sylvia Agutter, Alice Mitchell. Row Two: Sheri Kottal, Kay Simmons, Pauline Hoggan, Linda Pippy, Joyce Peterson, Barbara Piep, Karen Hopper. Row Three: Bonnie Ruby, Ilean Smith, Faye Terry, JoAnn Roeder, Faith Bell, Toni Hullinger, Carolyn Dawson. Row Four: Ann Leslie Garvin, Patricia Jensen, Kaye Stephens, Clarene Wagstaff, June Klitgaard, Sharon Eccles, Veronica Leitzinger. Row Five: Linda Maria Flanders, Rhea Spainhower, Leola Williams, Patricia LaFrance, Bonnie Dale.

Studying the Language

Combine the zest of Spain, the romance of France, the traditions of Germany, the culture of Greece, the mixture of American speech, and you have the Language Arts Clubs. Each club is designed to give its members a fuller understanding of its respective country through language, song, and experimentation with customs.

Lola Jeanne Caldwell

SPANISH CLUB: "Buenos tardes," one might hear as he joins the Spanish Club for an hour of authentic fun. Activities based on old Spanish traditions and customs are lively and educational. Row One: Noel Aguilar, Mike Martinez, Manuel Guevara, Judy Hillman, Lenny Arellano, Pearl McKenzie, Rosemary Wadsworth, Judy Komatsu. Row Two: Jill Watchorn, Virgene Thaxton, Linda Huddy, Jerolyn Jackson, Marcie Manning, Fran Ramos, Margaret Freier. Row Three: Jean Muniford, Sharon Phibbs, Annette Petersen, Mary Jane Barton, Evangeline Martinez, Gordon Mustain, Lola Jeanne Caldwell. Row Four: Elaine Garcia, Margie Gallegos. Row Five: Mr. Robert Pierce, Gary Schaugaard, Louie Lopez, Richard Chatterton, Shelby Epperson, Bill Freston.

Los Tres Osos (The Three Bears)
produced by Spanish Club.

FRENCH CLUB: The language of our romantic European neighbors, captured in an American class by Mrs. Ann Heaton and converted to the members of her French Club in musical programs, films, and songs, creates an enthusiastic response. Parlez-vous Francais? Row One: Suzanne Valentine, Katherine Scott, Peggy Hansen, Gayle Cowan, Margaret Freier, Karen Kramer. Row Two: Jeanine Bartholomew, Carolyn Maw, Venice Madsen, Vicky Currie, Janet Jemison, Sanoma Irons, Ranac Pierce. Row Three: Mrs. Ann Heaton, Marsha Campbell, Tom Hansen, Lucy Snow, Pam Haslem, Kathleen Blank, Gloria Nyland, Mary Jane Barton. Row Four: Reinhardt Bsumek, Bob Goodsell, Jackie Back, Julie Christensen, John Florez, Bob Foster, Amanda Smith, Robin Olsen.

LATIN CLUB: Hark! Berobed dramatis personae entangle in jovial confusion pantomiming famous Roman myths. Then comes the embibing of ancient world delicacies. The Latin Club has celebrated a year-round holiday. Row One: Susan Platt, Tonya De Garcia, Jeanne Smolka, Diane Milne. Row Two: Joyce Fujii, Carolyn Manning, Janet Healy, Linda Johnson, Sherrie Van Vleet. Row Three: Sandra Beall, Linda Kilpatrick, Joy Mordue, Mrs. Dona McLaren. Row Four: Mitzi Okuda, Faye Stephens, Mary Ann Olsen, Kathie Snow. Row Five: Dennis Kiyoguchi, Jeff Burton, Amanda Smith, Kay Nakamaya, John Trinnaman. Row Six: Dennis Young, Brett Reynolds, Bill Wigginton, Stephen Jones.

SPEECH CLUB: A forgotten thought, a stumble over words, a sudden inspiration, an urge to speak, the pride of achievement. The Speech Club, active in the annual poetry festival, drama festivals, democracy speeches, and debate, create a swirl of activity on campus. Row One: Jana Kinder, Rouli Stavropoulou, Ann Rowe, Kathy Fearnley, Joy Marsh, Irene Myers, Dorothy Perkins, Peggy Hansen, Kathie Snow, Susan Paul, Barbara Smith. Row Two: Donnetta Hoopes, Marily Peterson, Clara Dean Solomon, Sharon Petty, Sherri Perkins, Patricia Hazelrigg, Vicky Currie, Pamela Knight, Joan Edwards, Mary Ann Marsh. Row Three: Louise Millard, Harry Anderson, Vaughn Seegmiller, Terry Anderson, Kathleen Lea, Jackie Back, Geraldine Broadhead. Row Four: Ronald Chamberlain, Frances Bay, Bonnie Swenson, Susan Keddington, Mary Ann Olsen, Maxine Bray, Merrily Sandberg, Linda Harrington, Mary Gunter, Boyd Johnson. Row Five: Edward Brauson, Mary Jean Andrus, Kathy Thompson, Anna Anderson, Gordon Mustain, Jay Poulson, Janet Lawrence, John Trinman, Carolyn Lasater, Gary Schaugaard, Larry Spendlove, Leo Smit.

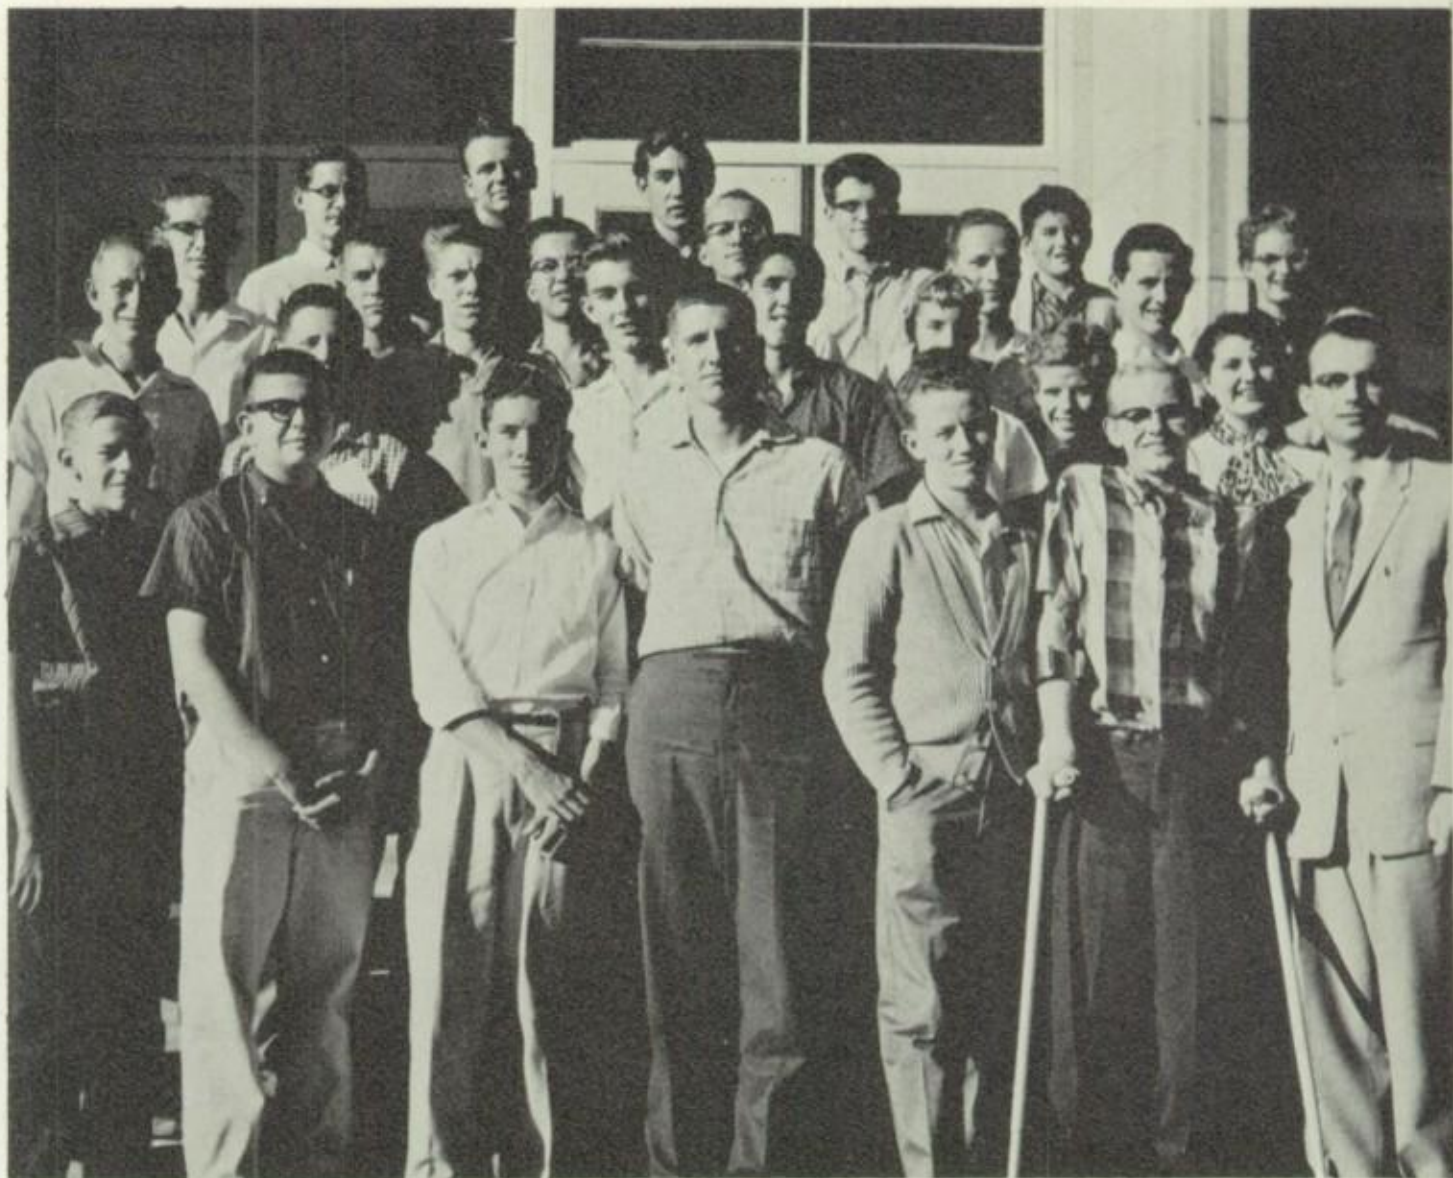

Carolyn Lasater and Janet Lawrence demonstrate the methods of conflict as an art form.

Enjoying Hobbies

If you relish the sound of toppling ten-pins, humming wheels, squeaky saddle leather, the swoosh of hickory slats, or the roar of twenty rifles; or, if you fancy more tranquil activity such as licking stamps, pushing chessmen around a board, or discussing the latest music albums, you're sure to be an enterprising member of a hobby club. These clubs, designed for pleasure and recreation, are the answer to any avocational interest.

BALLET CLUB: "Tour-jete," instructs Professor Christensen of U. of U. ballet fame. Such proves to be most beneficial as members of the Ballet Club can tell you. And what excitement to be given a special appointment by the San Francisco Ballet during its Salt Lake stop! Diane Kassis, Marilyn Ivie, Lee Murphy, Virginia Willis, Susan Stonebraker, Karon Kolb, JoAnn Soria, Diane Seward, Elaine Smithon, Lois Fletcher, Myrna Robinson, Gloria Jackson, Toni Hullinger, Carolyn Ludlow, Cheryl Fossell, Liz Ayrton, Nancy Orser, Susan Nielson, Jean Mumford.

CHESS CLUB: Clicks, groans, triumphant smiles, and other related sights and sounds emit from the nooks and staircases where chess games proceed during the wee hours before the bell and into the night after school. The players, you can be sure, are members of the Chess Club who seem never to have enough time to pursue this interesting activity. Row One: Wayne Newsome, Lynn Perry, Larry Spendlove, John Trinnaman, Juel Kuhlmann, Bill Wigginton, Mr. William Robinson. Row Two: Ken Clifford, Lynn Kerr, Bob Hannon, Albert Hall, Jacques Chappuis, Dorothy Miller, JoAnn Wilson, Hannah Sohn. Row Three: David Keysor, Tom Hart, George Tvedtnes, John Tvedtnes, Detlef Lehnardt, John McDonald, Pamela Baker. Row Four: Jan Jurasek, Gary Schaugard, David Pearson, Roy Wilkinson, Ozzie Allen, Virginia Seaman.

Form is so important when one grasps a rifle.

A belligerent battle between Lee Bossard and Albert Hall.

HOMEMAKING CLUB: Give a gal a needle or a cookbook, and she'll soon produce the "something special" if she's a member of the Homemaking Club. Members enjoy exhibits and lectures by leading women in the home economics field, and there's often a treat involved, as with the display by the Dairy Council of Utah. Row One: Joanne Robinson, Joyce Taylor, Genamay Reed, Ramona Hill. Row Two: Bonnie Noorda, Joanne Wilkerson, Marva Hall, Maria Siouris.

GIRLS RIFLE TEAM: "This is not a gun," commands Sergeant Figge, holding the Twenty-two. As sponsors of the Girls Rifle Team, he knows well this fun-loving group of nineteen girls who can hold their own in any competition. Row One: Sherrie Pace, Beth Muni, Sandra Tullius, Alene Robinson, Maurine Mansfield, Bonnie Pueblo, Kathy Thomson, Nancy Johnson, Vicki Peterson. Row Two: Nadene Pope, Marjorie Gold, Carolyn Streiff, Marsha Utly, Nancy Blank, Cheryl Pocock, Linda Taylor, Kathy Johnson, Ruth Raikes, Kay Ryver.

A tour of commercial airplanes gives flight enthusiasts first-hand experience.

Club members observe the ascension of a weather balloon.

AVIATION CLUB: A tremendous Western Airlines stratocruiser circles the field and glides in for a landing. Interested observers, the Aviation Club, guided on a tour of the weather station and the operational facilities by airport administrator, Earl J. Glade, regard the descent and then clamor aboard for closer inspection. What fascinating first-hand adventures for these twenty would-be-pilots. Row One: Robert Gramse, Jimmie Kemp, Gordon Danielson, Reinhardt Bsumek, Billie Lee, Bob Amiot. Row Two: Doug Osborn, Miss Bernice Thomas, Leonard Wahlberg, Allen Bodtcher, Bill Huston, Jerry Harston. Row Three: Janice Honda, Lynette Rasmussen, NaDene Pope. Row Four: Merry Mears, Peggy Bowman. Row Five: Nancy Orser, Kathy Marie Demers, Mary Ann Marsh.

Y-TEEN CLUB: Take a group of exuberant girls. Add an enthused sponsor, and you have Y-Teens. Fun is this club's middle name. One of their many spirit-boosting activities is a potluck dinner given on each girl's birthday. At Christmas they enjoy the merriment of the "hanging of the greens" at the Y.W.C.A. The spring horseback riding party and initiation also provide many moments of laughter. Row One: Jeanette Scott, Sonoma Irons. Row Two: Nancy Espinoza, Norrene Webb, Sheila Webb, Cathy Tucker, Linda Kilpatrick. Row Three: Ruth Burns, Mrs. Irma Hansen, Kathy Scott.

Y-Teen initiation inaugurates a new club at West.

Organizing Activities

Committees, a necessary part of all smoothly operating organizations, are designed to keep the wheels of school activities rolling. Students selected by ability and creative talent to serve on Commencement, Scholarship, Assembly, and Art and Decoration Committees assure high-quality results.

"Back-to-School Night."

P.T.A. COMMITTEE: "Where children count most"—With this as its motto, the P.T.A. promotes the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community. Sponsoring Parents Night, a drive for membership, National Education Week, student insurance, art and music displays, the Science Fair — is it any wonder that this group is vital? Row One: Mrs. Max Francom, Mrs. Phil Gertsch, Mr. Dan L. Baker, Mrs. Glen Rowe. Row Two: Mrs. Lyman Zirker, Mrs. James Crofts, Mrs. Harland Hall, Mrs. George Burbidge, Mrs. Lynn Williams, Mrs. Roy Streiff, Mrs. Demoivre Skidmore, Mrs. Elmer James. Row Three: Mrs. Ivan Bowden, Mrs. Michael Adams, Mrs. Earl B. Wright, Mrs. Hyrum Smith, Mrs. Gregory Pearson, Mrs. Paul Gaines, Mrs. Joseph Dunlop, Mr. Jeffrey Galbraith, Mrs. Bertrum Willis. Row Four: Mrs. Katherine McClure, Mrs. Ross Daffin.

ART AND DECORATION COMMITTEE: Did you enjoy the halls at Christmas? 'Twas the work of the Art and Decoration Committee. Another annual project was the Awards Banquet which was a feather in their caps. Row One: Ruth Christensen, Collen Nielson, Leslie Pearson, LaRae Dallin, Ceceile Larson, Jean Putnam, Colleen King. Row Two: Kay Davies, Gordon Petersen, Tom Hansen, Miss Grace Keenan, Emma Padilla, Judy Smith, Connie Thomas. Row Three: Diane Van Campen, Ursula Herber, Barbara Huntsman, Jean Yamaguchi, Mabel Enelo, Janet Jemison, Bonnie Stevens, Ruth Raikes, MaryAnn Olsen. Row Four: Bob Goodsell, Dave Thomas, Beverly Wirth, Julie Christensen, Lee Murphy, Carolyn Sherrow, Faye Strode.

AWARDS COMMITTEE: Tabulating Students' extra-curricular contributions, the Awards Committee determines those eligible for the Awards Banquet. Row One: David Rogers, David Miller, John Trinnaman, Steven Jones, Bertram Willis, Manuel Guevara. Row Two: Carolyn Brems, Carolyn Dawson, Miss Grace Keenan, Miss Nettie Bradford, Miss Catherine Newman, Mrs. LaMar Whitaker, Fay Strode. Row Three: Ursula Hofferbert, Virginia Jckowski, Doris Montoya, Elsie Yamada, Janet Jemison, Miss Dorothy Ingalls, Karen Dack, Charlene Edwards, Elaine Savage, Elaine Van Buskirk. Row Four: Mr. Frank Baughman, Mr. Harold Bell, Miss Etta Nelson, Mr. Tony Prpich, Mr. John Delis, Mr. D. C. Baker, Mr. Jeffrey Galbraith.

COMMENCEMENT COMMITTEE: Determining the seniors eligible for graduation, choosing the commencement speakers, and executing plans for graduation exercises, the Commencement Committee concludes the year's most important activity. Row One: Mr. Delbert Fowler, Gwen Faulkner, Mr. Wilford Howard, Mrs. Rosamond Demman, Mrs. Katherine McClure, RaNae Morgan, Mr. Dan L. Baker. Row Two: Mr. Charles Brown, Kent Gardner, Doyle Seeley, Mr. John Padjen, Mr. John Larsen, Mr. Keith Tollstrup, Mr. William Robinson, Mr. Milton Starley, Mr. Jeffrey Galbraith.

SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE: A friendly letter recognizes high scholastic achievement. Students with grades of three-point-five are honored. Scholarship Committee functions. Row One: Elsie Yamada, Lucille Larsen, Susan Platt, Peggy Bowman, Mr. Delbert Fowler. Row Two: Miss Afton Argyle, Miss Zona Power. Row Three: Boyd Johnson, Steven Jones, Doug Condie, Mr. John Larson, John Trinnaman, Steve Sorenson.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE: Jovial strains of the "Can-Can" sound. A scarlet-cloaked MacBeth hurries by, and an air of excitement surrounds room 311 as assembly try-outs are held. Headed by Mr. Anderson, a capable Assembly Committee has organized and supervised our amusing entertainment. Row One: Karen Newman, Karen Devey, Miss Venus Melonas, Mrs. Irma Hansen, Miss Helen Thomas, Carol Silver. Row Two: David Thomas, Mr. Dee E. Anderson, Mr. William Ward.

Operating the School Plant

STAGE CREW: The curtains open upon a vividly realistic eighteenth-century library. Technical production by the stage crew has been executed professionally. Beverly Boynton, Kathleen Lea, Pat Reed, Jo Anne Wilson, Irene Meyers, Terry Anderson, Van Seegmiller, Kevan Gardner, Maxine Bray, Ron Chaimberlain, Joe Wood, Hans Geuder, Edward Franken.

SOUND CREW: The reverberating echo of Big Ben and a clap of thunder resound! During the school play and varied assemblies the Sound Crew unifies precision, timing, and teamwork. Row One: David Wilcox, Lynn Powell, Terry Duffin, Mr. Milton Starley. Row Two: Dennis Partridge, Douglas McGavin, Bob Fuller, David Glad.

Students eager to assist in the smooth functioning of a complex organization volunteer talents of efficiency and skill. Myriads of contributions — recording attendance of 2,400 students, handling the mountains of paper work, codifying and maintaining order of the more than 8,000 library books, setting up "mikes" for countless student activities, planning and creating appropriate backgrounds for dramatic productions — make school services indispensable.

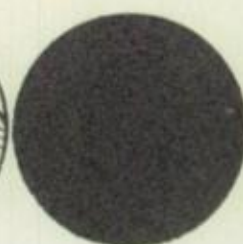

LIBRARY WORKERS: Keeping up the library is quite a job as the activities of these people reveal. They must maintain, check on, and reshelve all material, as well as help confused students to the correct reference. Row One: Miss Arvilla Brown, Nancy Marsh, Joyce Fujii, Jeannette Scott, John Platt, Manuel Guevara, Marilyn Ivie. Row Two: Mr. Harold Bell, Nanette Munson, Bernhard Strahl, Marjorie Gold, Linda Taylor, Judyth Christensen. Row Three: David Rogers, John Garvey, Marion Boyce, Alton Wardle, Carole Hill, Beverly Wirth, Nedra Parry. Row Four: Glenn Ferree, Gary Winchell, Fred Watford, Patricia LaFrance, Jean Rich, Barbara Jessee.

Ingeliss Redson

Fitting Into a Plan of Living

A sophomore is one eager to challenge juniors and seniors
In screaming, "You Panthers !"
One from whose Christmas Clod Hop and spring dance will Linger pleasant memories,
One pushing, ever hastening for first pick of balcony seats,
One anticipating, eager for a chance to grow in his lowly status.

A junior is one who feels his security through recovery from Last year's experiences,
One who offers a seemingly unquenchable school spirit,
One whose Bali Hai and Boots and Holly have set precedents.
He is one growing increasingly in the heights of leadership.

A senior — striving, looking forward to the Awards Banquet,
To Commencement, to college, to travel, to a job, to life —
Looks back upon his decade and more of learning
And realizes that he is no longer a meek youngster.
His is an adult world — typically American.

America Mingles.

KENT GARDNER, President

"Strictly suave" describes this leader who is not only intelligent and scholarly, but also has to his credit the talents of writing and painting.

MR. WILFORD HOWARD

Congratulating the Graduates

"Big wheels," editors, leads in the school play and operetta, presidents of clubs, activity squads, and 550 other members of the Senior Class combined their talents to sweep aside the year's obstacles. The young masters who came in '56 and '57 now leave behind the introduction of their pursuits. Their "Senior Scream" bulged with excitement and the jollity of laughter. Modified hopes for an invitation to the Awards Banquet caused a peak of anxiety, and failing grades and growling instructors produced a plague of homework in the rush before semester's end. Taking their place amidst America's host, the Seniors will go, their success stemming from the firm foundation laid at West.

RaNae Morgan
Secretary

A girl that can't be topped. Who else but RaNae could greet everyone with that incomparable smile and friendly "hi." A more loyal supporter does not exist.

Doyle Seeley
Second Vice President

Strength of character, fine sportsmanship, and distinctive leadership ability are just a few of the qualities that typify Doyle.

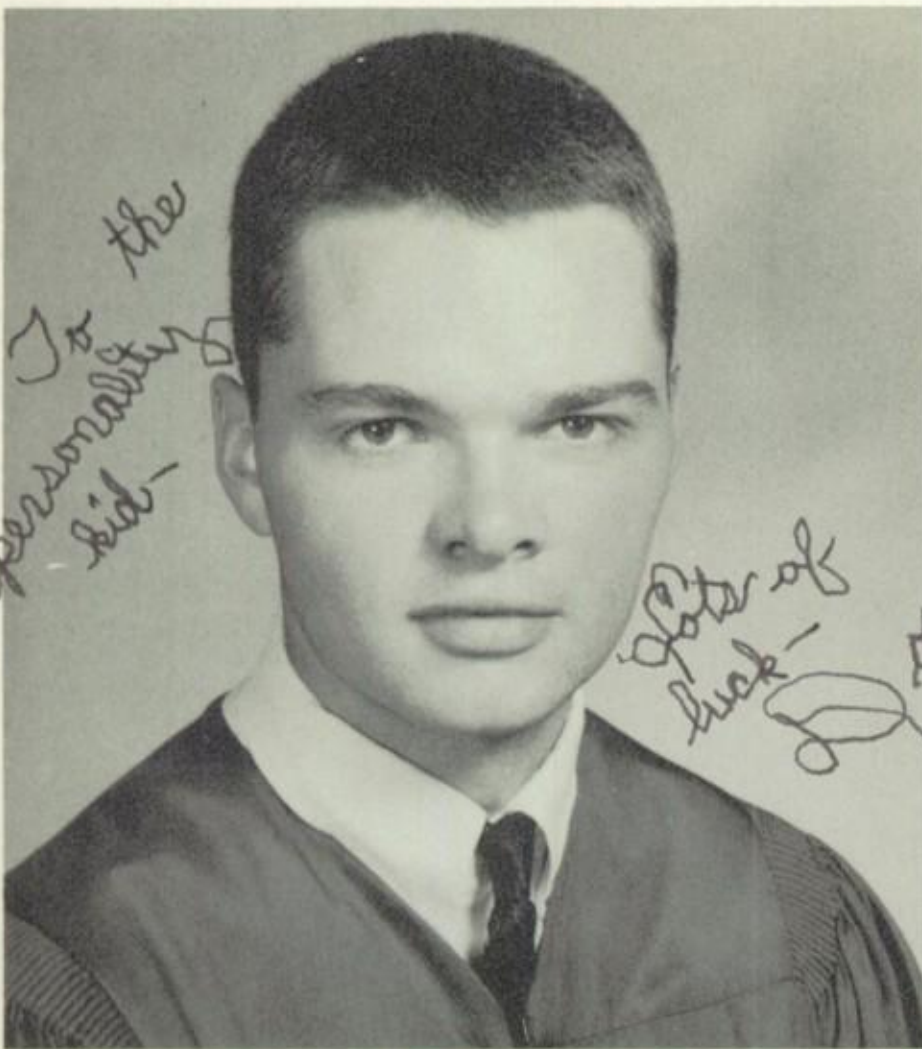

Gwen Faulkner
First Vice President

Poise, refinement, charm, a flare for creativity, a warm friendliness are symbolic of Gwen.

Representing the Capable

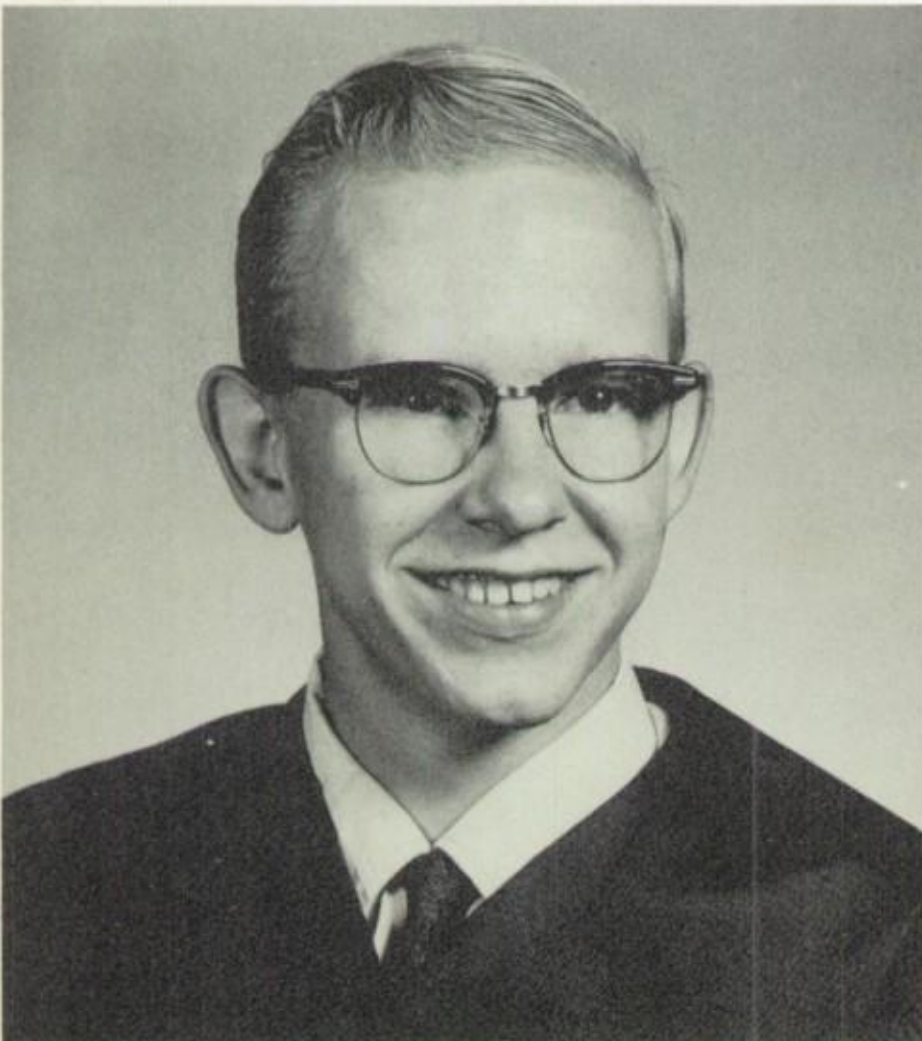

"The greatest gift man can give is of himself." This quotation personifies the 1959 Senior Class Personalities. Others were nominated, but these were selected for their three years of devoted service to West, their earnest willingness and varied capabilities. Loyal Seniors propelled school spirit, and as it reached its zenith, defended it with a wall of confidence. Harboring new ideas and concreting enterprising projects were their goals. Never too busy to share a moment, their glowing friendships were always welcomed, their intellectual abilities admired. These are the Panther's personalities . . . all typically American.

THE MOST VALUABLE STUDENT: Doug Condie has, during his three years at West, combined the qualities of leadership, a warm personality, the desire to serve, participation in numerous activities, and outstanding scholastic ability. West's exchange student to Italy, a member of the Scholarship and Assembly Committees, loyal Key Club supporter, a varsity football player, and faithful A Cappella Choir vice president, Doug has proven to be sophisticated and mature.

CITIZENSHIP AWARD: Bill Wigginton is a fine scholar who works to capacity, a mature thinker whose desires to achieve outweigh any inability. Because of a matchless loyalty in supporting student activities and in attending regularly all types of athletic competitions, Bill receives Panther's unanimous nod as outstanding citizen of West High School '58-'59.

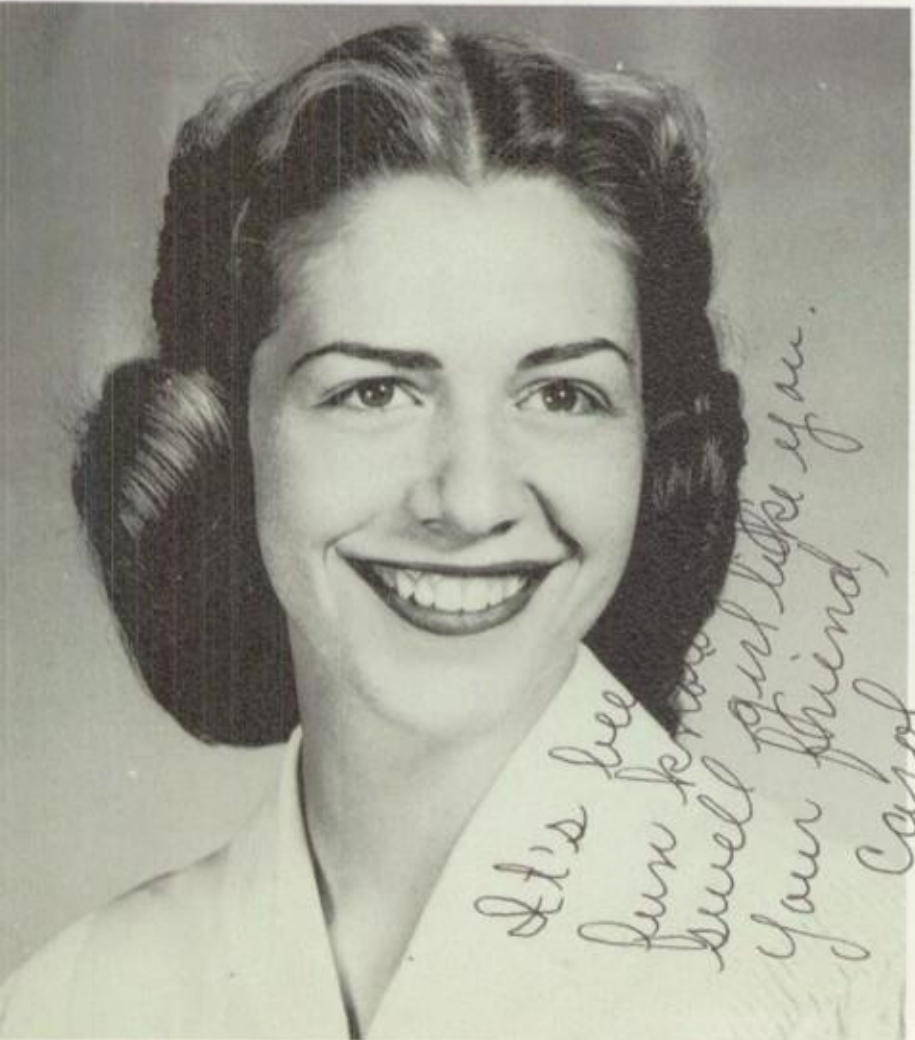

LEADERSHIP AWARD: Myrna Jeppson, ambitious, dependable, a gifted organizer, realized that Senior girls, anxious to participate, needed an active organization into which they could pool their services. Big Sisters filled the bill. This conscientious leader has made the lonely to feel wanted and has done it, not for honor, but because of love.

SERVICE AWARD: Margaret Freier, with her sincere desire to serve West, is our choice to represent her class in the field of service. Contributing innumerable hours of effort, Margaret has put together this year's "Panther." Unselfish and loyal, she has been an excellent associate editor.

PERSONALITY AWARD: Sparkling vivaciousness, intelligence, subtle humor, and the ability to make anyone feel at ease are the qualities which make Carol Sollis an outstanding Senior personality. Formerly active in Pep Club, loyal to A Cappella, and known for her many other interests, Carol personifies animation and charm.

Good luck girl -

ACTIVITY AWARD: Sheila Sorensen, "West's singing ambassador," has received our bid for outstanding participation in activities. A former Pep Club member, active in Boosters and Student Council, participant in the school play and leading lady in "Brigadoon," Sheila has projected her sincerity and friendliness.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD: Kay Nakamaye has consistently maintained a four point average in his courses, which have included some of the most taxing of the West High School curriculum. Scholastically apt and zealous, Kay has been a paragon for many a student. "He is yet a scholar, than which kind of man there is nothing so simple, so sincere, none better."

BUCK BACKMAN, President

An easy going young man with a quick wit, one can depend on Buck to get it done and to do it well.

MR. WILLIAM ROBINSON

Working with Mid-classmen

The Junior Class this year has been one of West's outstanding contributors to the success of school functions. These colorful, enthusiastic students have continually stepped forward and added a zealous tone to citizenship and scholarship ratings. Pep Club jollity maintained its steady peak and helped support the spirit of competition. Keen projection of friendship ranked the 700 mid-classmen among the highest and helped them to make "Boots and Holly" an unusual class party. Mastery of talent and production procures leadership.

Gordon Blackham
First Vice President

Humor, talent, good looks, and intelligence are rarely combined. This Junior executive is the rare exception. He's that "pusher" behind every activity. If a project is successful, Gordon has had a part in it.

Lois Kay Thompson
Secretary

With a gracious poise and vibrancy that's all her own, Lois has organized, worked, and achieved.

Cheryl Turner
Second Vice President

Characterized by her friendly "Hi" and cheery smile, sparkling, winning Cheryl has added that bright spot.

LEADERSHIP AWARD: Capable Pep Club vice president, gifted A Cappella member, active in Student Council and Boosters Club, Fayone Bingham is the Panther's choice as an outstanding leader. Her graciousness, sincerity, and warm friendliness have won complete respect.

PERSONALITY AWARD: Phil Boren smiles and the world seems brighter. Possessing a fine mind in addition to matchless charm, this friendly junior has the ability to emulate warmth and to adapt well to all situations and all types of people. All who know him like him. What more could be said?

Personifying the Efficient

For outstanding achievement in their two years of high school, these five students have been chosen as Junior Class Personalities. Leading in unwavering school spirit, they have contributed many hours to the building of a better West. Alert minds and willing hands have boosted them to the top of the list. Inspiring friendships have helped them to establish the roots of their success. Working at and developing their talents, these Juniors have gained their recognition. A credit to American teen-agers are the Panther's selections.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD: Scholars with discernment, maturity, interest in many facets of knowledge, social good taste, and a unique philosophy about "the good life" are rare in an age of conformity. Certainly Stephen Jones, with his efficient handling of four "College Prep" classes and active participation in several clubs, should be honored for superior scholastic achievement.

ACTIVITY AWARD: Outstanding for her participation in the operetta, "Brigadoon"; the school play, "Berkeley Square"; as "Honeybun" in the Pep Club Dance, and on varied assemblies and dance committees, Ann Rowe has been chosen to represent her class in the field of activities.

SERVICE AWARD: John Trinnaman, conscientious and eager to serve, with a genuine interest in people, is our choice for outstanding school service. Enthusiastic Latin and Key Club member, active on Scholarship Committee, and able debater, John personifies the true spirit of service.

MIKE NEWELL
Sophomore Class President

The witty Sophomore master of ceremonies—conscientious, virile Mike has rolled up his sleeves, spear-headed exceptional achievements, and chalked up an exceptional year.

MR. JOHN G. DELIS
Sponsor

Welcoming the Neophytes

Susan Stonebraker
Second Vice President

With a twinkle in her eye, and a sparkle that's all her own, amiable, sincere Susan has added a finishing touch to Sophomore sponsored activities.

"Like new leaves before the whirlwind blows," Sophomores came, lost in a labyrinth of exits, room numbers, and the jostling of more experienced upperclassmen. Their first moments at West after three months of anxiety and anticipation brought resolutions to be the best students, the most loyal supporters, the finest examples. Eager with the thrill of broadened activity, these "greenies" accepted all challenges and demonstrated infinite possibilities. A display of enthusiasm at orientation, and awareness of academic responsibility at registration, a well organized plotting of the hilarious "Clod Hop," and a colorful presentation of the Sophomore sponsored "Spring in Stereo" enabled these tyros to gain stature. Though the balcony seats will be discarded soon by the class of 1960, its niche in the glorious story of West will have been carved.

Barbara Smith
Secretary

Bursting with enthusiasm, practical jokes, and energy, Barbara has added spice to a year of colorful activity.

Kaylene Taylor
First Vice President

Holding tenaciously to what she believes and following responsibilities to an effective conclusion, Kaylene will be remembered for her keen judgment, good taste and charming graciousness.

ACTIVITY AWARD: Coming to West from Horace Mann Junior High, Robert Larsen has been the driving force, the motivation of the Sophomore football squad. Known for his loyal support and talent as member of W.H.A.M. Council and Boy's Glee, Bob has excelled in activity.

PERSONALITY AWARD: Known for her warm friendliness and sincerity, Susan Keddington has won Panther's nod as an outstanding Sophomore personality. Active in Boosters, Girl's Glee, and W.A.G. Council, this lovely coed from Horace Mann Junior High has sparkled and spread good will.

Portraying the Competent

Through steps of elimination, these Sophomores have climbed to top positions on the ladder of competition. Exceptional contributions have resulted in their being voted as outstanding Panther Personalities. The determination of their aims and the spirit of their ambitions have demanded recognition in scholarship and citizenship achievements. Emulating geniality and providing tireless effort, they have arisen to the challenge of leadership. Playing the part and fighting the battle have concreted their leads in the nominations as the "most outstanding."

LEADERSHIP AWARD: Kathy Burbidge, respected for her striking individuality, ability to organize, and quick wit, has made an outstanding record as student of journalism and frequent contributor to Red and Black. Future Teachers Club has achieved under her efficient administration. Hailing from Jordan Junior High, this dynamic Sophomore has excelled in leadership.

SERVICE AWARD: Chosen to represent her class in the field of service, Carolyn Burt from Glendale Junior High has spent countless hours creating decorations for such activities as the Sophomore Class Party, "Mardi Gras," and "Spring in Stereo." Asking little for much effort, this active student receives Panther's recognition congratulations.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD: For her conscientious effort, mature and sensible outlook, Maria Siouris has been chosen to represent her class in the field of scholarship. Hailing from Horace Mann Junior High, this alert Sophomore has achieved a straight "A" Average.

Remembering a classmate

Ellen Meads has known and loved and given to life.
Memories of her remain.

Born: March 30, 1941 — Died: June 18, 1958

Looking back

Symbolizing the American Way of Life, the Panther Staff recalls memories which have been captured by the camera shot, the vivid description, the propitious art work. From the traditional Homecoming, Lagoon Day, Awards Banquet to those never-to-be-forgotten events which come once only — Berkeley Square, Bali-Hai, Spring in Stereo — West High School has qualified itself to be truly represented as "Typically American."

Here then we present the Panther.

New features include a full-color spread illustrating the world of West. Added emphasis is given to various facets of the newly important academic. Class personalities and candid student life portraits lend color to our album.

In spite of the fire that raged at Saan's Photography on Christmas Day, Stewart Craig and his associates have accomplished the feat of developing and printing some 2500 pictures. Always ready to change their busy schedule in order to serve us more competently, they are greatly appreciated.

Wrestling their way through late copy and cuts, Ray Bergman and his capable staff at Wheelwright Lithographing Company deserve a vote of thanks for guidance given early enough to be of value and continued until date of issue.

Throughout the year our congenial adviser, Mrs. Lucille Wintch, has applied her boundless energy.

Norma and Bob have been constantly engrossed in their world of flash bulbs and speed graphics.

Billie Lee, gifted artist, has captured the mood of the theme and has transformed it to a striking cover, alive and appropriate.

Mrs. Savage, budget adviser, and Carol Sollis, business manager — vendors of advertising space and guarders of a limited budget — have accepted the challenge and have kept us from financial disaster.

The busy advertisers who have taken a moment to explore the possibilities of our Panther are appreciated.

Loyal staffs are hard to come by, and although there have been moments of mulling over pictures, periods of intense conversation about seemingly unrelated subjects, a handful of people have achieved deadlines and pushed the book to completion.

Student body, teachers, administrators have planned assemblies, created unique decorations, supported ball games, entered into club activities, and given us the opportunity to illustrate graphically the workings of a many-sided organization.

May pleasant and vivid memories of this year bring encouragement, hope and satisfaction in future years.

Sincerely, 1959 Panther Editors

Darron Lillian

Dear Linda,

How that clothing class was a ball. You're a real swell gal.
with the cutest personality.
Lots of luck.

Janette Williams

Dear Jim,
Well we finally made it!
a year of high school together.
I can't think of anything to say because I've said it all before.
You are a lovely girl with a wonderful personality. I am proud to say that I know you. Lots of luck in the years to come.

Your cuz,

Andy

Dear Linda,
I don't know you very well but what I do know of you
impresses me greatly.
I ~~don't~~ know of no other girl I think more of than you.
God Bless you
Janette Peterson

Dear Linda
I have really enjoyed your companionship this year in school &
love always
